voice of prophecy

My team and I here at the Voice of Prophecy live for one thing*: to see new believers walk through the doors of your church. That's why we've assembled this power-packed catalog of evangelistic resources. We want to give you our best, at an affordable rate, to help you prepare your community for the soon return of Christ.

We've learned that one of the best ways for a church to prepare to impact their community is through an organized evangelism cycle. In this catalog, we've outlined resources that will reach your community during each phase of the evangelism cycle. Select the ones that fit your needs best.

May God bless you as you share Jesus with your neighbors. We're excited to partner with you!

Your brother in Christ,

Shawn Boonstra
Speaker/Director

Evangelism isn't a once-a-year event...

It's an ongoing cycle of prayer, preparation, connecting, outreach, reaping, and discipleship. It's not an activity the church participates in but a lifestyle, a culture, and the foundation of healthy, growing churches—it's the DNA of a Spirit-filled church.

This ongoing cycle is not linear but a wheel within a wheel. In Ezekiel chapter 1, the prophet describes seeing living creatures accompanied by a wheel on the earth. "The appearance of their workings was, as it were, a wheel in the middle of a wheel" (vs. 16). The Spirit led the living creatures, who in turn led the wheels to the presence of God (Ezekiel 10:19-22, 26).

There are two vital evangelism principles that we learn from Ezekiel's vision. First, the Lord, through the Holy Spirit, works with angelic hosts to partner with humans in a joint endeavor to win perishing souls for Jesus. Secondly, this solemn task is accomplished through a multidirectional, multifaceted strategy that works where the Spirit is already working. This method combines multiple approaches, and like Ezekiel's wheel within the wheel (Ezekiel 10:10-11), two or more evangelism cycles run simultaneously at different phases so that all interests are ministered to regardless of where they are in their spiritual journey.

Soul winning is most effectively explained through the natural stages of the agricultural cycle. In His discourses on evangelism principles, Jesus conveyed that kingdom growth occurs through systematic phases, which he described through an analogy to the growth cycle of plants. Some of the elements Christ mentioned include: sower, ground, seed, sprout, blade, head, full grain, ripen, sickle, and harvest. These elements can be combined into six simple phases that, if followed, will yield the plentiful crop Jesus promised: ". . . some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred" (Mark 4:8).

For orders, call (970) 622-2962 to speak with an evangelism resource representative, or email order@vop.com.

THE CYCLE OF EVANGELISM

In the pages of this evangelism cycle resource catalog, you will find each of the six stages explained along with state-of-the-art, relevant resources and tools that your church can use right now to effectively engage your community at every phase. At the Voice of Prophecy, we have been diligently working over the past few years to develop everything you will need for effective soul winning and church growth. This catalog endeavors to present these vital materials in a cohesive way that connects them to their most effective phase. It's important to note that some resources, such as the Discover lessons, can be effectively used in multiple phases. However, for the purposes of this catalog, most resources will be listed under one particular phase of the evangelism cycle.

PRAY

Petition in Christ

Prayer is the essential first step to ministry. Without prayer, our efforts are futile. The gospels of Matthew, Mark, and Luke record a striking demonstration of this very fact around the time of the transfiguration of Christ. While Jesus and His most trusted three disciples are on the mount, the other disciples are back in town, where they are approached by a father seeking help for his demon-possessed son. Try as they may, the disciples are unable to help the boy, and instead of casting the demon out, they get into an argument with the crowd. Mark 9 reveals how tumultuous the scene had grown by the time Jesus returned: "He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them" (vs. 14). Jesus saves the day and casts the demon out but not before declaring their generation to be faithless and perverse. After the commotion settles, the disciples ask Jesus why they were unable to cast the demon out. Jesus responds that they are unbelieving, lacked prayer, and were not fasting.

Five main principles stand out in this story: the Christian's need for faith, belief, righteousness, prayer, and fasting. Without these, we are powerless against the wiles of the devil. But with these, we will "say to this mountain, 'Move from here to there,' and it will move; and nothing will be impossible" for us (Matthew 17:20).

In Matthew 21:13, Jesus declares that His house shall be called a house of prayer. This applies to our bodies (where God should reside), our homes and workplaces, and our churches. The following resources have been designed to help you, your church, and your interests develop a thriving prayer life. Grab copies for yourself and some to give to your friends.

STEP 2

CULTIVATE
Preparing in Christ

When Elijah set out to call Elisha in 1 Kings 19, he found him behind one of the 12 yokes of oxen plowing the fields. In Mark 1, Jesus took James and John away from mending their fishing nets. David refused to wear Saul's armor because he had not tested it (1 Samuel 17). And 1 Samuel 13 records that "all the Israelites would go down to the Philistines to sharpen each man's plowshare, his mattock, his ax, and his sickle." What these examples hold in common is the necessity for proper training and preparation prior to successful execution of a given task.

Evangelism is not immune to the need for proper training and preparation—in fact, it's an essential beginning step to evangelism success. In the Voice of Prophecy's evangelism cycle we call the second step Cultivate. Cultivation has three main elements: preparation of Gospel workers, gathering and prepping instruments and supplies, and soil preparation. The resources that fall under this phase have been painstakingly crafted to fashion your church members into effective soul winners through personal spiritual growth and the learning of methods and techniques necessary to establish a successful culture of evangelism. Feel free to mix and match the resources as your church and community needs dictate.

SOW

Encountering Christ

The parable of the sower—recorded in all four gospels—powerfully captures the essence of what God would have His workers do to identify strong interests. In this parable, the sower spreads the seed among different classes of people. Not all are receptive, and only a fraction, the seed that fell on good soil (hearts that are open to the prompting of the Holy Spirit), grows to maturity in Christ. Paul builds on these principles in 2 Corinthians 9:6 by adding, "He who sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and he who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully."

It is the Lord's intent that we bountifully spread the seed of the love of Christ in every corner and to every nation, kindred, tongue, and people (Revelation 14:6). Step three in our Voice of Prophecy evangelism cycle is called Sow, and it is through this phase that people begin to know Jesus. The resources we have carefully selected for this step have been designed to cover as broad of an audience as possible. A systematic and intentional use of these resources will generate the greatest number of solid interests for your church. Some of these resources have been designed as systems and bundles. Go ahead and explore the range of possibilities—mix and match them as necessitated by your strategic evangelism plan.

A Pale Horse Rides

Many people know the story of how Christianity unfolded in Europe over the course of many centuries. Many people also know the story of Martin Luther launching a reform movement in the beginning of the 16th century. In A Pale Horse Rides, you will meet people from the fringes of the empire—barbarians who mysteriously converted and built their faith with nothing to go by but the words of the Bible. These fearless men and women lived their faith during some of this world's darkest hours. Their lives were predicted in prophecy, and they paved the way for Luther . . . and us. Your own faith will be deepened by what they accomplished!

STEP 4

IRRIGATE
Discovering Christ

In Deuteronomy chapter 11, God promises to irrigate early and late so that grain and oil may be produced: "I will give . . . that you may gather" (vs. 14). The implication reveals that proper irrigation is necessary for a successful harvest—simply put, no water, no fruit! Additionally, the specification of "early" (autumn) and "latter" (spring) reveals that growth takes time—in the case of plants, it takes months to produce "first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head" (Mark 4:28).

Similarly, successful evangelism is not accomplished overnight. It takes considerable time and effort to embrace new truths. This growth phase is cogently presented by Paul in 1 Corinthians 3:6: "I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase." It was the combined efforts over a period of time through the power of God that yielded fruit.

The Irrigate phase of the Voice of Prophecy's evangelism cycle breaks away from the traditional classification of the historical evangelistic series. In an intentional shift from categorizing the full-message series as part of the reaping/harvest phase, we have placed it in Irrigate for the following two reasons.

1. This move better captures what is actually occurring in the field. We find that most decisions for Christ occur after the meeting has concluded—during the post-work stage.

2. Over the years, a dangerous misconception has taken root that an evangelistic campaign is designed to reap the harvest. This has placed undue pressure on pastors and evangelists to produce numbers while simultaneously relieving the church as a whole from their solemn responsibilities of developing interests during the pre- and post-work stages of the campaign. The misclassification of the evangelistic meeting has further resulted in a negative view of the historical evangelism method and message when the expected numbers are not produced.

A healthier view of the evangelistic meeting understands that it is more aligned to irrigating—discovering Christ—than it is to reaping a decision for Christ. It is during the meeting that interests systematically and programmatically learn of the truths of Scripture and wrestle with new concepts and life-altering implications. In the Irrigate section of this catalog, you will find the resources available for conducting evangelistic meetings.

HARVEST

Decision for Christ

In Mark 4:29, Jesus follows up the irrigation principle we taught in step four with the result: "When the grain ripens . . . the harvest has come." The harvest is a result of the journey taken through discovering Christ. It is the point of decision—the fork in the road—when an interest must decide whether to follow the convictions brought upon them by the Holy Spirit or walk away from it all. As mentioned previously, most decisions for Christ occur after an evangelistic series has concluded.

A vital step in successful evangelism is the follow-up stage. Interests who have encountered and discovered Christ are now in the valley of decision and wrestle with what they have learned. During follow-up, your church will have the opportunity to solidify what has been taught, answer people's questions, and gain decisions for Christ.

We call this post-work, follow-up stage of the Voice of Prophecy evangelism cycle Harvest. In the following pages, you will find effective resources your church can use to conduct proper, thorough follow-up of your evangelistic meetings. Two systems are featured here. The first is our one-of-a-kind Bible marking package that has been designed to combine the Discover Bible study resources into one easy-to-use collection. This method provides materials for both the midweek and Sabbath School classes for new believers that you will need to conduct successful follow-up. The second is a small group system of Bible studies that, when combined, provide a progressive instructional platform that will solidify interests in Bible truth.

Keep in mind that although we present these materials as systems, each separate unit has been designed to also stand alone. Feel free to use the systems as suggested or pick and choose from the different components to fit your needs.

BIBLE
Marking System

We're excited about the opportunities offered by our comprehensive Bible marking system of post-work follow-up! These tools are the perfect way to keep new interests studying and engaged in Scripture. Of course, you can use any of these resources individually or mix and match as you need, but they have been designed to work together as a complete solution.

Here's how the system works: host a midweek Bible marking class using the Discover Bible marking course. Pre-scored sticker sheets have been prepared for easy use—just peel and stick! At the end of the study, send the students home with the corresponding Discover* Bible Study Guide and answer sheet, which will provide another, different layer of understanding of the topic as they review this lesson during the week. On Sabbath, invite interests to participate in the Discover Sabbath School discussion class utilizing the corresponding Talking Points guide specifically designed for small group use. The following week, at the Bible marking class, begin the class by reviewing the previous lesson's answer sheet. Presentation slides of these answer sheets are available for Discover Bible Schools at info.bibleschools.com (see back cover).

It's that simple—and that complete! By following this process, each student will thoroughly review the material in three different ways: Bible marking, Discover lesson study, and Talking Points discussion. Counting the seminar they attended prior to enrolling in this system, they will have studied the material four times. With this easy and fun-to-use system, your interests will be solid believers by the end of the year.

SMALL GROUP RESOURCES

Our small group Bible guide system is designed to take interests who have had very little or no exposure to the Bible and lead them programmatically from basic principles through the fundamental beliefs taught in Scripture. Follow the program step by step, or use each lesson set on its own or in whatever order you feel is best—the guides have been written with maximum user flexibility in mind.

This small group system is also perfect for a new believers class. The four books in steps 3 to 5 purposefully contain 13 lessons each in order to coincide with the Sabbath School quarters. Use of these four books will provide a full year's worth of Sabbath School material, which in our opinion is the perfect amount of time for a new believer to ground their faith before graduating to other church Sabbath School classes.

Successful Small Groups
Kurt Johnson

Kurt Johnson's book Successful Small Groups is a how-to book on the topics of how to start a small group, how to find small group members, and what to say and do on the first night. This book illustrates the proven effectiveness that small groups have for both nurturing the spirituality of current church members and leading friends, neighbors, coworkers, and others to a saving relationship with Christ.

The six study guides of Peace Is an Inside Job deal with issues we all face in daily life—fear, worry, guilt, grief, and stress—and reveal the solutions provided in Jesus. Each guide uses a Bible story as an illustrative example and provides life applications for today. The student learns that there is a personal God whom we can talk to through prayer and who can assist us with daily life.

Once the small group participant has completed these guides and learned about God's desire to know them through prayer, we share with them a way they can learn how to pray.

Through the study of these guides the student will become acquainted with Jesus. Once they've finished this series, we offer them the opportunity to learn in detail about who Jesus is.

STEP 6

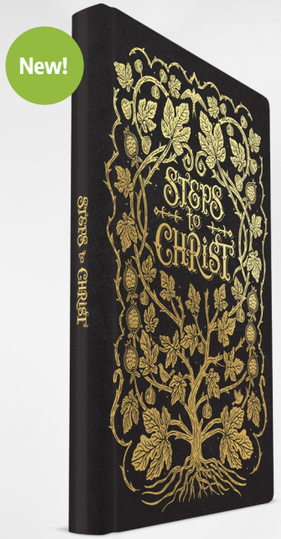

PERPETUATE
Growing in Christ

After the harvest, the work has only just begun. The farmer must then properly store the crop, prepare it for market, collect seeds for next year's planting, and sell the product. Each of these steps carries a common thread—simply put, what has been reaped is perpetuated into the future. In other words, the crop has a useful future that includes providing a blessing to those who will eventually receive it and, through the collected seeds, yield more fruit.

The Great Commission as recorded in Matthew 28 instructs us to "make disciples" of those we teach and baptize. The term "disciples" is defined in Matthew 4:19, where Jesus called Peter and Andrew through the appeal of "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men." Christ did not intend for the disciples to simply accompany Him from place to place. They were to be His shadow; they were to do the work that He did. As in the case of Jesus, they were called to "seek and to save that which was lost" (Luke 19:10).

Like the disciples of old, new interests need to be cultured into growing in Christ with a deep yearning and passion to shadow Jesus and work diligently for the salvation of the lost. The resources packaged in this final phase of the Voice of Prophecy evangelism cycle, Perpetuate, have been designed to grow new believers in Christ through faith stories, devotional options, and instruction on how to study the Bible. These items complement the learning that has taken place in other phases and may be used simultaneously during the follow-up or Harvest phase.
